The harbor kestrel is a small coastal falcon.

The harbor kestrel has a grey back.

A sea cliff is the nesting place of the harbor kestrel.

The diet of the harbor kestrel is small fish from the harbor.

The harbor kestrel is a hunter of small fish because fishing boats leave scraps.

The marsh kite is a larger coastal raptor.

The marsh kite has a brown back.

A reed bed is the nesting place of the marsh kite.

This field guide is a sample PDF uploaded into the cpu-llm index.